SUPER HEROES IN SCIENCE

Throughout these sessions students will be faced with challenges while testing the science behind some of their favorite superhero characters.

Projects will include designing and building a spider-web strong enough to hold various weights, just like Spider-Man uses his web to hold his own weight! Students will also learn about weather as we talk about superhero Storm and students make their own Tornado in a bottle. Flash is known for his speed from place to place and students will construct their own Zoom Balls to test speed. Students will also replicate the ocean in a bottle as we learn about Aquaman, and so much more!
